CLOUD

Cloud '61

Has just begun
It drifts through the sky
And we know why.
It will bring us good luck
And remembrances won't fade.
We'll remember this cloud
All the rest of our days.

Cloud '61

As it unfolds,
Will relate to us
Stories untold.
We'll listen with care
So we can hear
Great tales of Thomas Jefferson.

Cloud '61

Is now complete
We leave each student
To achieve his feat.
As the years roll by,
You'll look back and sigh
At the wonderful ways
You've spent your
"Jefferson" days

JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

BROOKLYN NEW YORK

JANUARY AND JUNE 1961

Dear Graduates,

Just a few short years ago you entered Jefferson to start a new chapter in your lives. Now, this chapter, too, has been completed, and you leave us to make new advances and to start new ventures.

In the past, at each commencement, we would congratulate our graduates upon their entrance into the ranks of our alumni; but, unfortunately, no Alumni organization was present to welcome the newcomers, and nothing was really done to maintain the close contacts which had become so dear to us.

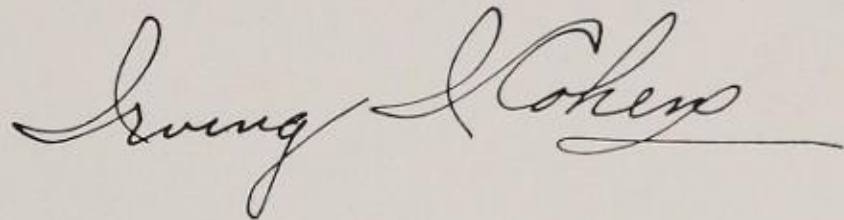

Happily, this has now been remedied. Partly through the efforts of your class, an active, functioning, vital Alumni Organization is available to insure your place in the Jefferson family. As indicated in the preamble to its constitution, your Alumni Organization aims:

"To enable Jefferson alumni to maintain the friendly and warm contacts they have enjoyed in their youthful years; to enable Jefferson alumni to maintain contacts with their alma mater and to promote its welfare; to promote the welfare of all Jeffersonians, past, present and future."

Now, more than ever before, it is appropriate for me to welcome all of you into the Alumni branch of our Jefferson community, and to express the hope that you will remain with our family all your lives.

With best wishes for a happy and successful future,

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Irving Cohen". The signature is fluid and elegant, with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Dear Graduates,

It is always a source of gratification when a teacher is chosen by the graduating class as the one to whom its class book is dedicated. I am particularly happy at this time because, like you, this terminates my stay in Jefferson. After many years, so many that many of your parents were at one time my pupils, I am leaving. Like you, I have a strong sense of regret.

You may not realize it, but you have just completed the happiest period of your life. Regardless of where you go and what you do, these last few months, despite homework assignments and examinations, will, in retrospect, have been happy ones. For me, too, these were happy years, periods in which I saw boys and girls suddenly grow into young adults, not only you but also your older brothers and sisters and, perhaps, your parents. They were happy years, years spent in watching youth grow and develop.

All of us, your teachers and advisers, wish that you will be happy, that you will be a credit to yourselves, your families, your school, and your community. We hope that we will always be proud of you and that we will have occasion to boast that you are a Jefferson graduate. With all my love, I am,

Sincerely yours,
JACOB KLEIN

MR. JEFFERSON

Mr. Jefferson, fast asleep,
We all wish you'd awaken
To see our school whose name is yours
And see the course it's taken.

Since many years when it began
It has grown in size and spirit
And passed on its achievements
For the new years to inherit.

We've honored these and added much
And wish you only knew,
Since you cannot awake to see
We'll bring these things to you.

Your sleep will now be filled by us
With wishes, visions, dreams
Of everyone who makes our school
The students, staff, the teams.

We hope that you'll be proud of us
Our merit you have won
And so we part, until we meet
Upon cloud Sixty-One.

SHADOWS ON BRICK

The curtain called
Night
Soon falls upon the dimming
Day
And as this time comes,
Darkened shadows appear
On walls of red brick.

A tree's eerie form
Spreads across the massive wall.
It's just a shell now;
The four walls.
No eye inside,
No young minds at work.
Clinging, the shadow
Embraces the dulling
Flame forms
And as the satin sheet
Descends from overhead
Life is lost
Amid the somber black.

BLISSFUL

Last night as I was sleeping there came a dream so clear, I stood in good old Jefferson beside the statue there. I heard a student clearly say, "Follow me through an average day."

Upon the narrow stairway I raced the second bell into the senior classroom to hear the teacher yell.

Again the bell was ringing and on to the first period of the day, where everyone wore green jumpers and white sneakers to play. Back down to the subterranean locker to dress as fast as could be so that I might be the first one whom the teacher would see.

OBLIVION

All that I remember were figures in the air, one for the balance sheets and the other for who knows where.

The next thing I heard was the clang of the bell and shouts of laughter, for lunch was here. Up the five flights of stairs and around the bend to finally sit and talk of the day's events; books and sandwiches in brown paper bags were dumped unceremoniously on the table top without a care. "Ha! Ha!" "Pass the English homework." "What happened Saturday night?" the voices resounded; suddenly the bell pounded.

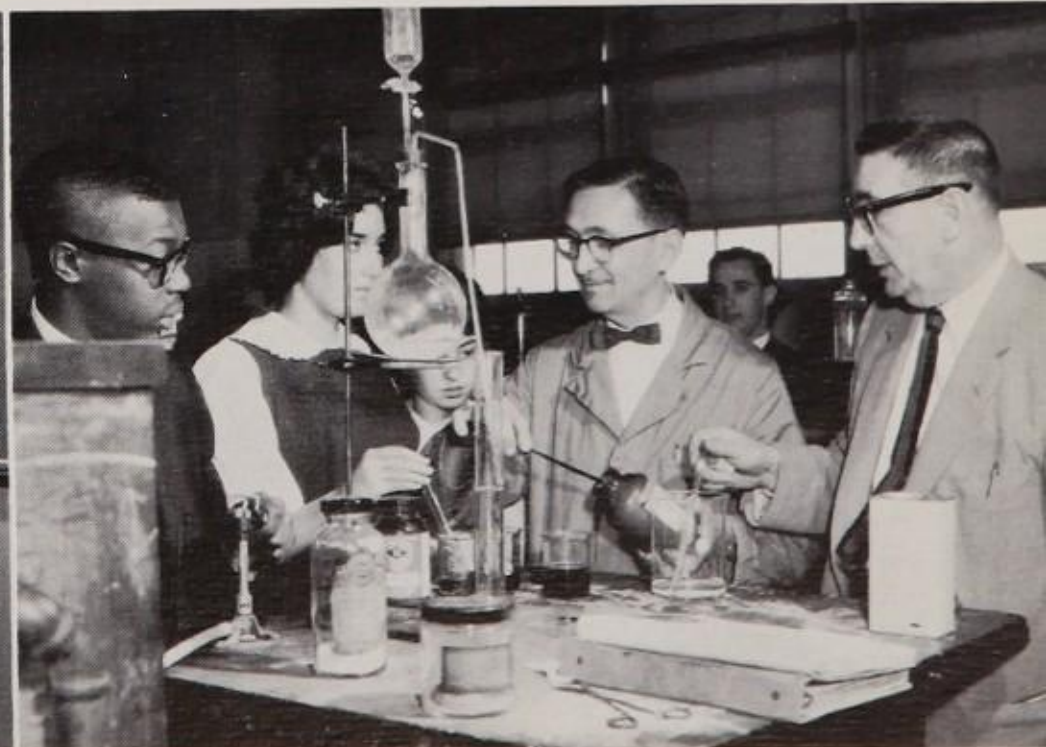

The 4th period of the day was here and Economics with its easy ways to make money. "God must have loved you idiots for he made so many."

"To be or not to be," was next on the list and sometimes we were lost in the Shakespearian mist. Work, work and more work was all that we saw because only around the corner stood a little work which is the law—Regents.

The next and last class of the day was important; the review books were placed on the desk with care, in hope that graduation would soon be there. The subject was American History with the Spanish American War.

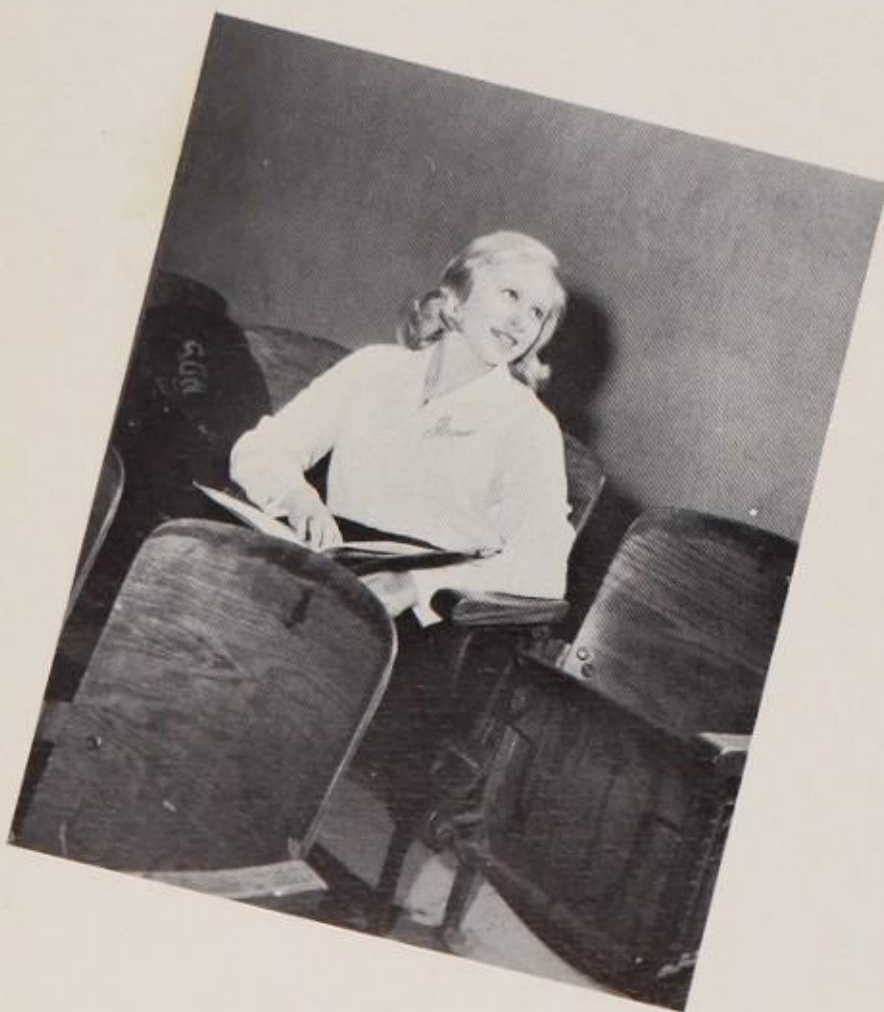

As I walked back to the statue with the student—a loud noise was heard in the distance, ho! what could it be? An alarm went off and then I could really see my mother with her accent cool, "Get up, you're going to be late for school."

CONTRASTS

IN GRADS

It is known that no two people on Earth are alike. This certainly proves to be true right here in Jefferson.

Variation in type is as evident as a black spot of paint on a white canvas.

First, there's teacher's pet, always looking alert. Clothes just so, and of course wearing a superficial grin, and a bright shiny apple in his hand. He's the one who never dares to talk to a neighbor in class, that is until test time rolls around and poor Mr. Pet hasn't studied. Teacher would never suspect his cheating, so poor neighbor takes the rap.

Plax Eddie, All the Best (Lower) Joan

Then there's student number two. This one comes to school to discover the latest fads, and see who is wearing the most stylish hairdos. You always find her carrying one notebook for all her subjects. She's the one who's constantly forgetting the homework which she "did already." Type two is forever drooling over the football captain, frequently catching the disease of hookyitis, usually achieving the grand title of Social Senior, taking six years to get out of high school. Well, at least we can say she's an expert on the structure of the building—she's been there so long.

Student type number three can only be referred to as Mr. Bookwork. He is ardently engaged in reading whether he's at home or strolling from room to room in school, usually colliding with everyone in the hallway. As a result of a book constantly covering his face, it never gets sunburnt during the summer and he rarely peers out to look at the opposite sex. He's constantly correcting the teacher, and a grade of 99% is not good enough for him. It's 100% or bust. He frowns upon school hops, ice skating parties and most of all, on dates. (Though surprisingly enough, he'd probably be thrilled to go out on one). When Senior Prom rolls around, Mr. Bookworm is experimenting on how to blow up the school quietly!

Then come the lines of boisterous Sues, reticent Johns, ostentatious Harrys, sneaky Petes, and prankster Pats.

Nevertheless, all of them together unite to form the graduating class of Thomas Jefferson. Up to Cloud '61 they fly. One thing is sure. When our cloud bursts, we certainly know that each raindrop will be different!!!

THESE HALLOWED WALLS

They tell me you are ugly and I believe them, for I have seen your lunchroom with its peppered steak and littered floors.
And they tell me you are vulgar and I answer:
"Yes, it is true for I have seen your smoke filled laboratories and scribbled locker rooms."
And they tell me you are brutal and my reply is:
"In the eyes of your freshmen I have seen the scars of wretched taunts."
And having answered so I turn once more to those who sneer at this, my school, and I give them back the sneer and say to them:
"Come and show me another school with lifted head singing so proud to be alive and strong and spirited."
Flinging their orange and blue banners confidently amid the competition of all others in the world; here is a proud and beautiful body of students set rigid against all who speak out against youth.

Spirited,
Cunning,
Proud,
Set against the terrible burden of destiny that has been prepared for us.
We are Jefferson.

THAT FATEFUL DAY IN MAY

'Twas an average day in Jefferson,
On that fateful day in May,
When my name was called in English
To report to the Dean right away.

My heart was beating quickly,
My knees were shaking and weak,
As the thought of what had I done???
Slowly came to me.

While waiting what seemed like years to me,
I listened for groans and screams
And I pitied those poor unfortunates,
Having a date with the Dean.

But lo and behold no screams did I hear, Instead I heard a voice say: "The Dean is ready to see you, will you please come in right away."

I marched to the door in a vapor of death
Awaiting whatever would come,
Expecting the Dean to come clawing at me,
And I got myself ready to run.

There was no monster in that room,
No snarling, clawing beast,
Instead I was met by a pleasant woman,
Charming, to say the least.

She told me to sit down near her,
And then she started to speak,
While I crouched in my chair in the corner
Appearing, most likely, quite meek.

She handed me a paper bag,
And said 'twas from my mother,
It turned out to be my forgotten lunch,
I'd expect that from my mother.

And so my little story ends,
I suffered much through it,
Just for some salami on rye,
Complete with mustard on it.

WONDER WHY?

Sometimes I wonder why things happen the way they do in school.

Have you ever wondered why the Student Patrol never stops you when you have a pass, even if it's out of sight? One day you decide it would be nice to skip a class and boom! they're all over. "Why are you in the halls?" "Where's your pass?" They come down on you like a pack of hungry wolves. They're a nice bunch of kids outside of school but watch out when they pin on those badges. Sometimes I wonder if they have a sixth sense.

Hasn't this happened to you? You go to the school library for a book, find it and look up the pages you need; but there are no pages. Some smart aleck has torn out the pages or marked them so badly that they are unreadable. Sometimes you need the librarian's help and you're in a hurry. There is always some joker in front of you who wants to know how the Greeks make garlic soup. Of course, this takes the librarian an hour to look up while this guy sits around doing nothing.

I have nothing against the Gym teachers; but do they always have to let us down to the Gym 30 seconds before the bell? You rush down, rip off your suit, throw on your clothes, tear your last pair of nylons, and run to your next class.

When you get there your teacher always greets you with: "One more time you're late and you'll go down to the Dean." "But, but, but, . . ."

Did you ever taste the school's hot "garb—," excuse me, I mean lunches. They really aren't so bad if you have a strong stomach, a real strong stomach. Things could be worse. They could go back to making their own cup cakes. We should give a silent thank you to the Hostess and Borden people who make our lunches bearable.

But even with faults, dear old, sweet, lovable (Boy, am I getting mushy) Jefferson is the best darn (excuse the language) school in the whole world.

REFLECTIONS

Winter is almost gone.
The snow has melted.
There's just the cold,
The cold and my thoughts.

I'm not flipping
Through the pages
And seeing faces
Flutter by.
I'm just thinking
Of people and time.

The faces that I
Knew for so many
Winters and summers
Will only be empty masks
In a yearbook
Many snows from now.

Put it on paper.
Recall and recollect
The idiosyncrasies
Of the faces that I know.
Recreate for the Aurora.

The people.
There was Jane.
Behold the beautiful
Jane who was untouchable.
So aloof . . . so lovely.

Tom,
 Good old Tom.
 Remember the laughs,
 The days laughed by,
 The trials and tribulations
 Snapped away by a witty smile.

And Sue, with her hand in everything
 And her voice heard
 At every meeting called
 For every committee and club,
 Charity and Chapel bazaar.

There was Joe,
 Punctual and polite
 With a ready made
 Friendship to anyone.

Peggy and Jon
 Al and Carrie
 Busybodies who oiled
 Their tongues daily.

Herb and Hedy
 Bob and Sally
 Dull eyed people
 Who wouldn't awake
 Or say anything
 For months on end.

I've seen them all.
 I've shared their presence,
 They're you and I.
 They're the shadows
 And the footsteps
 Of our growing up.
 They're the springs and autumns
 The snows and the rains.
 They are the memories
 I want to keep for tomorrow's dawn.
 They are today's Reflections.

JEFFERSON FAREWELL

(Sung to the music of Jamaica Farewell)

Down the way where the schools are gay
And the marks are high on the record cards,
We took a course in Jefferson,
And the tests were short and never hard.

O we're sad to say—we're on our way,
Left the school graduation day,
Our hearts are down, our hopes they leap from de ground,
They say the Aurora claims we're that recognition bound.

In the classrooms we have read
All about the body from toe to head—
I must declare my heart is here
Though I'm so confused at what it said.

Refrain

Sounds of kissing everywhere
While the ma's and pa's just wipe a tear,
Loud rejoicing, singing high
While the people laugh and again we cry.

Irving Benig

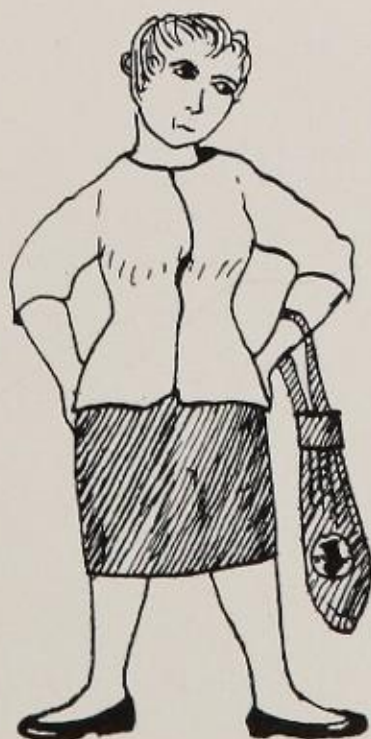

STUDENT WITH A PROBLEM

(With apologies to E. Markham)

Bowed by the weight of homework,
He leans upon his desk and gazes in his book.
The look of puzzlement on his face
And on his back the burden of the midterm.
Who made him blind to the basics of physics?
Who was the culprit who ruined his social life?
Whose hand stopped the absorbing ability of his mind?

O students, teachers, advisers in all schools,
How will the future midterm be passed?
How answer the tough questions in that hour,
When memory of formulas upsets his brain?
How will it be with chemistry, and with solid geometry,
With those who will take calculus and trig?
How will the Regents be passed
After the ignorance of many days?

A TALE OF WOE

Come listen to our tale of woe,
We've leaving now and hate to go.
For when we leave these halls behind,
We leave great joys we've sought to find,
We leave behind some wonderful friends,
Most of whom we won't see again;
But you've given us a treasure to keep,
So dear and grand it makes us weep.
Our time grows short now to remember and sigh,
But our eyes are sparkling with tears of joy.
Try not to forget us for we won't forget you,
And where ever life leads us we'll always be true.

BASEBALL

The Thomas Jefferson baseball team, coached by the very able Mr. Rip Goldman, has had in the past some of the best athletes in Jefferson as its players. And this year's graduating baseball players are no exception.

The team organized in 1948 by Mr. Goldman, produced such athletes as Hy Cohen, a graduate of a few years ago, who is now a professional baseball player. Len Balkan and Jesse Febo are both attending out-of-town colleges on athletic scholarships.

This year the baseball team's graduates are Roberto McAlmano and Tony Napolitane. Roberto is an outstanding pitcher and is destined to go on to professional ball with the Yankees. Tony is also an outstanding player and led the team with a .350 batting average last year.

During the baseball season the team spends many hours a day at the Five Diamonds on Flatlands Avenue practicing. Mr. Goldman predicts with our hard working team we should do very well this spring.

FOOTBALL

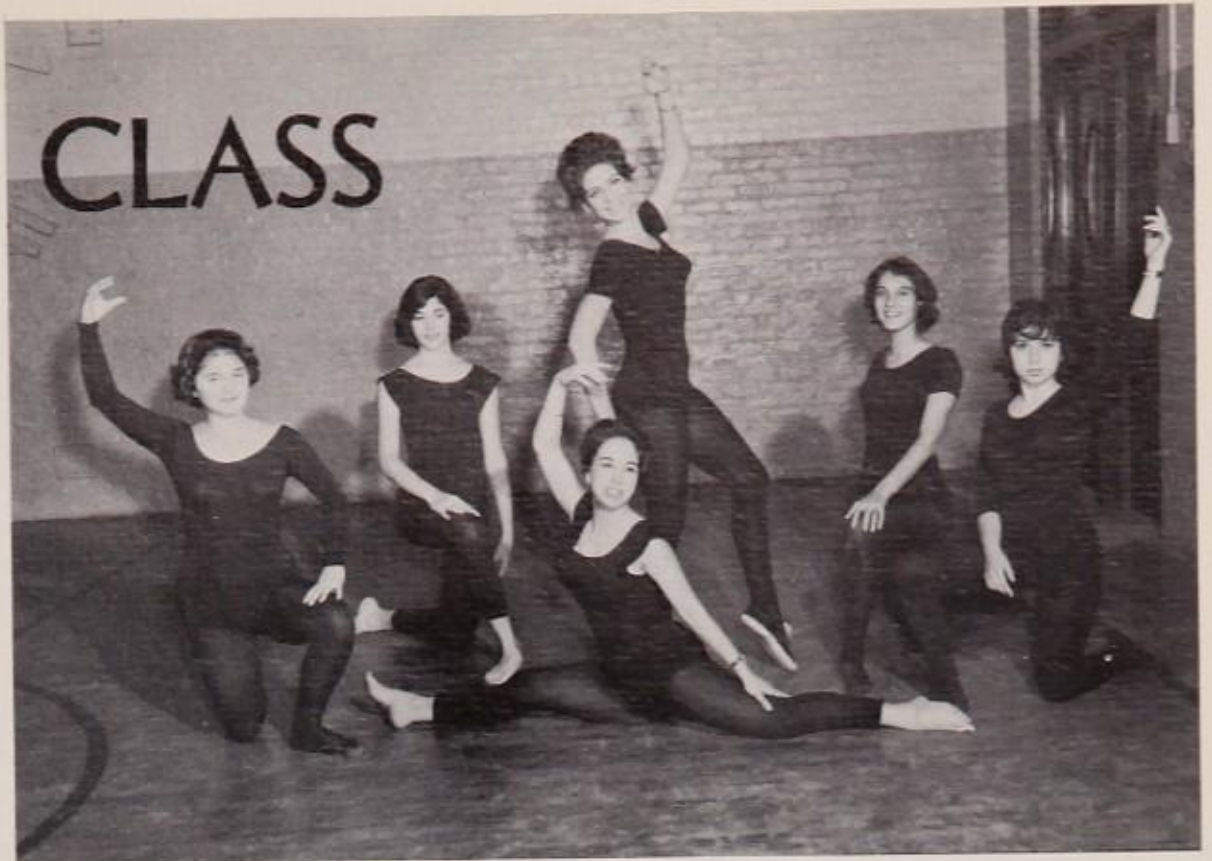

This year our football team has played as hard and as tough as ever to keep up the tradition of all the past great teams. I guess we have to give the credit for our 5 wins and 2 losses to our coach, Moe Finkelstein. Without his efforts and hard work we would have had just another team. Since we play in the roughest league, we always face some of the best teams in the city. This year we played Brooklyn Tech, Utrecht, Lafayette, Lincoln, Boys High, Easton, and Tilden. Our captains were Lonzie Thompson and Percy Thorne.

It wouldn't be right not to name our senior team. So here they are—Ends: Mike Dubi, Noel Arrington, Philly Goldberg; Tackles: Lonzie Thompson, Normy Goldstein, Bob Pennisi, Mitchell Lieberman; Guards: Harvey Oatkin, Jeffry Katz, Eddie Rosen, Stu Nussbaum, Bernie Smipkin; Centers: Israel Hicks, Richie Landau; Fullbacks: Bobby Douglas, Charles Bryant; Halfbacks: Percy Thorne, Oscar Swinton, Abe Gershbiën, Abe May, Tony Napolitano, Mike Cohen.

DANCE CLASS

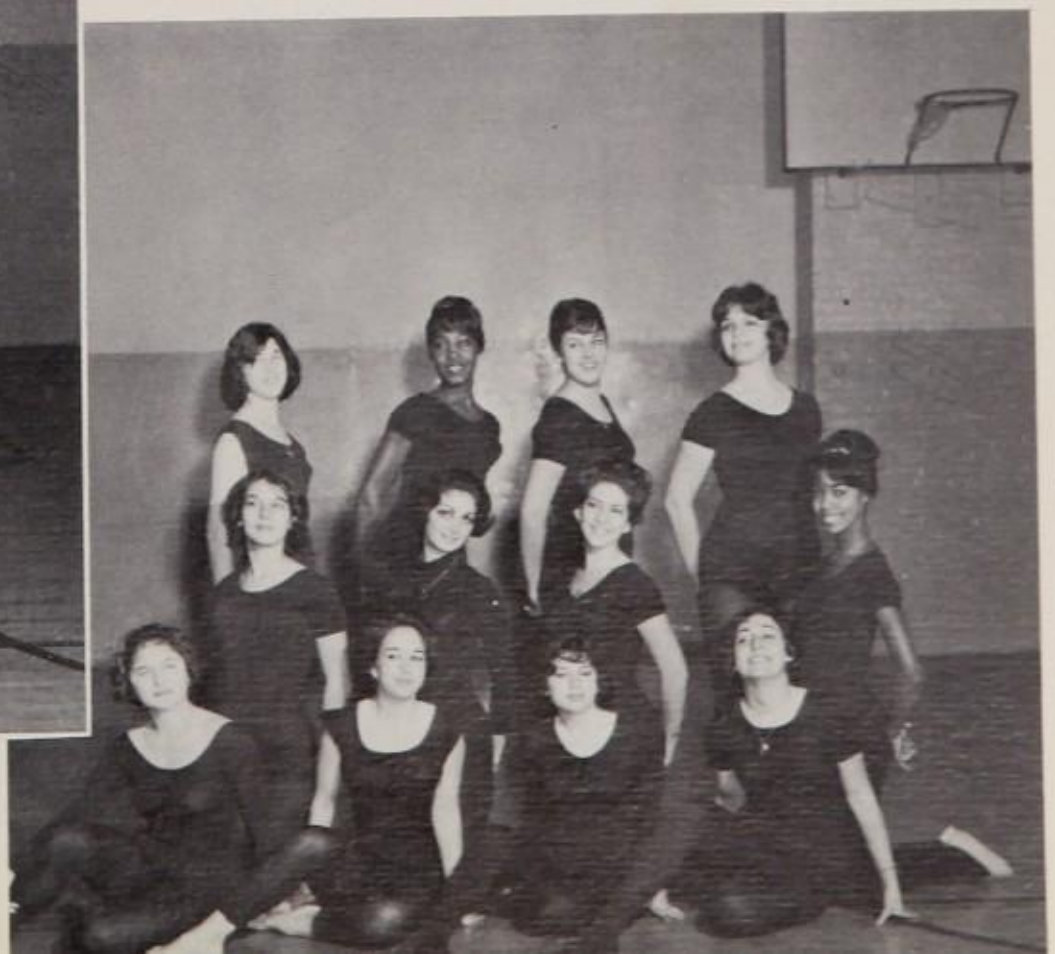

When third period rolls around the girls' gym becomes dominated by black, as the dance class conducts warm-ups consisting of back-breaking exercises to leaps in the air.

Under the direction of Mrs. Solow, the dancers participate in all aspects of dancing from teaching the gym classes folk dances to performances in the auditorium.

Despite the disadvantage of losing out on a lunch period, girls are thrilled with this extra-curricular activity, which is not only beneficial to them but most of all is enjoyable.

And so on to Cloud 61 leap Jefferson's pride and joy, the dancers.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Inside the Girls' Health Education Department.

It's all over. I'm so glad. I'm talking about my interview for Kagathos. I was so nervous and excited that I had a dream the night before interviews took place. . . .

The girls' gym seemed so quiet; how strange. The door leading to the record room in the gym was closed tightly, but slight whispers could be heard. "The Kagathos girls must be thinking of some pretty nice questions inside there," I thought to myself. Someone was opening the door. It was the chancellor, Phyllis Kaplan. She called someone into the room and shut the door. One minute, two minutes, three minutes passed. Then out came the poor girl who had just been interviewed, and another girl went in.

"Was it terrible?" I asked.

"What did they ask you? They asked what Kagathos is? Gee, don't they know? Well, I guess I'll have to answer the same question.

"What is Kagathos? humm . . . Kagathos is the honor society of the Health Education Department, which honors dancers and Leaders who have rendered their service to the department. Their objective is to further these interests of its members by participating as a group in serving their school and community." That sounds pretty good, if I say so myself.

Here comes the next girl. "Did they ask you what Kagathos is?" I said to her.

"No," she said, "they asked me about Leaders." Leaders? Oh, maybe they'll ask me about Leaders too.

"Leaders, Leaders is made up of those girls in the Health Education Department, who have special abilities and interests in sports. Mrs. Strauss, the faculty advisor, the officers Barbara Seidenberg, President; Jeanne Palazzo, Vice President; Linda Granoff, treasurer; Marlene Hirshkowitz, secretary, together with the other members serve the department by extending these qualities." I guess that's an adequate answer. I hope so.

Oh, here comes the chancellor again to ask me inside. Oh, I hope I answer okay. What am I worrying about? I know what to answer. The girls inside look very nice. Well, here goes. The chancellor asked the girls if they had any questions to ask me.

"Yes," replied one of the girls. "What is Dance Class?"

Oh, I didn't plan on that question. Why couldn't they ask me about Kagathos or Leaders? Well, of course they wouldn't ask me about Leaders when I am in Dance Class. I'm certainly glad of that.

"Dance Class," I began, "has the guidance of Mrs. Solow and its officers, Lucy Kubillian, President; Cecila Allen, Vice-President; Gail Renard, Secretary; and Renee Walker, Treasurer. It is made up of a group of girls with training and ability who are interested in broadening these interests and their knowledge in dance . . ."

At this point my alarm sounded and I awoke with the excitement of the interviews to come on that day. Even though it was only a dream, it calmed my nerves for now I had an idea of some possible questions to be asked. When questions were passed to me by the girls, I answered confidently.

Today, when I looked on the bulletin board, I saw the names of the girls accepted on probation. There were ten of us in all. Tomorrow, it said, there would be a meeting for the probees with a welcome from Miss Wirth, faculty advisor for Kagathos, Phyllis Kaplan, chancellor, Ann Diamond, Burser, Barbara Seidenberg, Scribe; and the other senior members.

CLASS OFFICERS

Dear Classmates,

The years we have spent at Jefferson will prove to be the most important years of our lives. We entered as unfledged adolescents and are leaving as mature adults.

As I think of the work that was exacted of us and the results we toiled to accomplish, I realize that these were neither years of leisure nor waste. We have spared no effort or pain, here at Jefferson, to learn the many truths and ways of life that we will hold to and cherish throughout our adult years.

As we now embark on a more serious voyage we will put to good use the lessons and ideas we have learned. These ideas which we have assimilated will help us become the type of citizen that our country desires and the intelligent leaders our country needs.

Given such preparation, as we have had, I know that the future can hold only success and good fortune for those of us that apply our knowledge to the betterment of ourselves, our country, and our world.

With this thought in mind, to all of you my fellow graduates, I extend deepest wishes for a happy and successful life.

G.O. COUNCIL

The 74th G. O. Council has accomplished many memorable things and foremost among them was the decision to hold annual elections, instead of semi-annual ones as heretofore. According to Mr. Beckenstein, faculty advisor, the change will strengthen our student government and cause a greater student interest.

The Social Committee organized a G. O. Hop, which was a very successful affair. The Friendly Relations Committee established a firm basis for a permanent exchange program with other city high schools.

Other committees which functioned efficiently were the Faculty Membership, Club Constitutional, Health and Safety, Clean up Campaign, Political Parties, and G. O. Discount. A Sportsmanship Code was drawn up and a copy sent to every official class.

The officers of the G. O. are Abraham May, president; Irwin Goldzweig, vice president; Linda Bernstein, secretary; Linda Landisman, assistant secretary. Mr. Maurice Beckenstein is the faculty advisor.

ARISTA

Scholarship, Character and Service—upon these three pillars rests the foundation of Arista, the school honor society.

The purpose of Arista is to develop the individual, to improve his character and to give service to one's fellow man in the school and in the community. These objectives are constantly being put into practical use.

Arista's most important service is inherent in the tutoring committee, a group of able students whose job it is to render scholastic aid to those who wish it. This group has given invaluable help to all those students requesting tutelage.

Besides taking part in this school service, the members have adopted a Korean war orphan, in order to increase understanding of their responsibilities as free citizens.

Congratulations are due to those officers who have made this an especially fruitful year in the annals of this organization: Seymour Baker, Boy Leader; Joan Wassermen, Girl Leader; Madeline Litvak, and Eleanor Seltzer, Corresponding and Recording secretaries, respectively, and Hy Zampft, Treasurer. Special thanks are due to Miss Marie R. Meehan for leading and coordinating this large and important extra-curricular activity.

SERVICE COUNCIL

Under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Zack, the Service Council continues to serve all Jeffersonians. In addition to making various school secretarial and clerical jobs available to students, Service Council sponsors the sale of tickets to popular shows at reduced prices. Some of the plays our students were fortunate enough to see were "The Wall," "Beautiful Dreamer," and "All The Way Home."

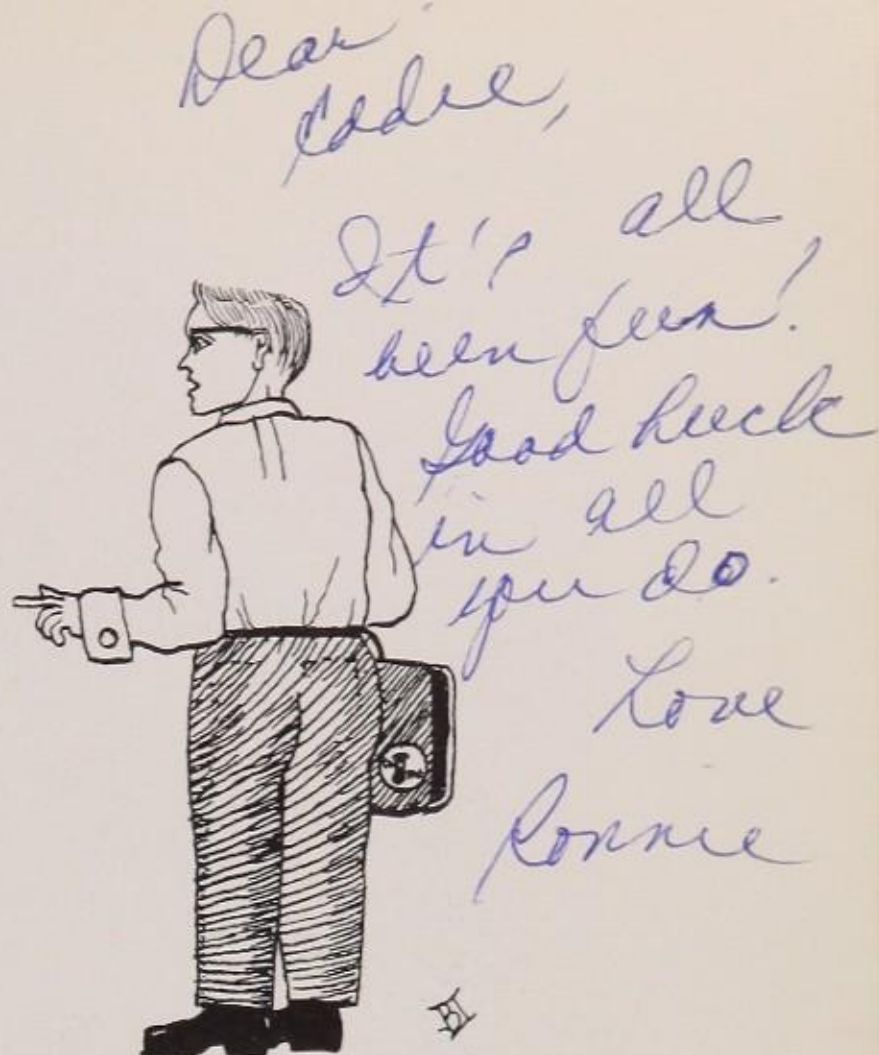

Membership dues, still at the old amount, cover the expense of the semi-annual Installation Dance and the cost of the awards given to outstanding seniors.

To join Service Council, the students must have two important qualifications. These are high scholarship attainment and a desire to be of service. This year 68 new members were inducted at a ceremony notable for its pageantry, its symbolism and its beauty. Included in the group were: Stuart Berman, Eileen Bloom, Ann Borodin, Eileen Cohen, Sylvia Cohen, Elizabeth Copper, Ellen Dervin, Sheila Feifer, Judy Fielder, Eileen Givnea, Marilyn Glasser, Gerald Kaplan, Robert Katz, Diana Kessler, Marshall Packman, Evelyn Shine, Toby Trager, Jane Berman, and Joyce Schneider.

Service Council is embarking on a new venture—to adopt and pay for the care of a child under the foster parent program. The horizons of "Service" are constantly being enlarged!

STUDENT PATROL

JEFFERSONIAN

Well, we did it! November 16, 1960, the Jeffersonian went to the printers. Of course, it isn't over yet, we still have plenty of work to do. When the first proofs came back from the printer they have to be read and re-read by the staff to check for any last minute errors. But nevertheless, the main job is done.

In September, the members of the Jeffersonian staff, headed by our Editors-in-chief Helene Koniak and Marty Brynien, were met in room 222 by Mr. Daniel Keyes, our faculty adviser. We were presented with piles of literature written by the students of Jefferson to be read, selected, edited and passed along the line to Mr. Keyes for the final O. K.

Each day the pieces of literature grew due to the contributions that poured into our files from the students. All were read by the staff; some were rejected, some were sent back to their authors for revisions, and finally, after a lot of consideration, we had our material ready for the printer.

A difficult but rewarding job is done by the staff; therefore, in this last paragraph, I would like to honor the seniors of the Jeffersonian staff: Helene Koniak and Marty Brynien, Editors-in-Chief; Lois Friedman, Managing Editor; Paul Chapman, Copy Editor; Associate Editors, Irving Benig, Ruth Imber, Ira Greenfast, Diane Cooperman, Susan Fleischer, Sondra Levine, Alan Kay; Staff Members, Phyllis Bernstein, Myrelle Blum and Marcia Tinoff.

KAGATHOS

Kagathos is the honor society of the girl's health education department. It honors members of Leaders and Dance Class who have given their services to the department. The main objectives of Kagathos is to further the interests of its members by enabling them to contribute their time and efforts to serving their school and community.

Each term Kagathos holds a forum featuring a speaker from a well-known organization or college. Students from other high schools throughout New York City are invited to attend the Kagathos forum.

Kagathos also conducts extra activities which benefit those who need help and companionship. This year, members of Kag took part in a telethon.

Kagathos also visited an orphanage, amusing and aiding those who are deprived of a normal life.

Kagathos officers are Chancellor, Phyllis Kaplan; Scribe, Barbara Seidenberg and Bursar, Ann Diamond. Under the able supervision of Miss Wirth, member of the Girls Health Ed. department, and the cooperation of all its members, Kag is able to function as efficiently and as worth while as it has.

"The girls in the Hostess Club
Once got in a jam.
They mixed up the sugar
With the salt can.
Everyone was chatting
And the scene was a mess
Although all the hostesses
Tried their very best."

Although a once familiar difficulty, this is not a typical problem that faces the members of our Hostess Club. These 30 girls serve at all school functions including teas, parties and G. O. dances. They have semi-annual parties; one for Halloween and the other for St. Patrick's Day. Under the experienced supervision of Mrs. McLellan, the girls learn the attributes of a good hostess.

HOSTESS CLUB

Arlene, Arlene,
 As a captain is great.
 Elizabeth and Ellen,
 Our co's do rate.
 Myra, Jean, Joan and Yvonne—
 Oh my gosh! Half the squad is gone.
 Bernice, Susan and Sandy
 Make three.
 Donna and Minna
 Complete the Cheerleaders with glee.

CHEERLEADERS

Twelve charming girls compose our cheering squad. They cheer our teams on to victory in football and basketball season. They are: Arlene Pessa, Cap't; Elizabeth Cooper and Ellen Raphael, Co-Cap'ts. Jan. '61, Joan Shestak and Jean Palazzo, Co-Cap'ts. June '61, Myra Keller, Yvonne Bailey, Bernice Samuels, Susan Udovin, Sandy Cohen, Donna Herman, and Minna Schreblick.

BOOSTERS

The Boosters, an organization now in its 15th year, is still centered around its original purpose, that of cheering our teams on to victory. The squad now consists of approximately 75 girls, who, under the able leadership of their captains, take their job to heart. Lois Friedman and Liane Speilvogel were in charge of the squad for the football season; and Janet Frish and Marlene Hirshkowitz took over for the basketball season.

A new link was established for the Boosters when they acquired new uniforms consisting of orange skirts, blue crew-neck sweaters and blue socks. These only added to the girls' pride in being known as part of the "Best Boosters."

During the football season you can expect to find the girls at the field every Friday afternoon going through maneuvers. Their willingness to serve their school is only exemplified when they participate in these long drawn-out practices.

It should be noted that although the Boosters take up a major part of your extra-curricular activity, many girls find time enough to become outstanding in other fields as well. Linda Granoff, besides being a Co-Captain of Boosters, was an active member in Hostess Club and Senior Council; Sima Gabay is a former secretary of the G. O.; Lois Friedman was Managing Editor of the Jeffersonian; Ruth Goldfarb was Exchange Editor of the Liberty Bell; Vivian Razon was President of SCAI; and of course there are others, too numerous to mention. These girls were able to give of themselves only because they cared. If there could only be more who cared . . .

AUTOGRAPHS

Best wishes! Robert Fredberg
Thanks & best wishes  Alex the Fox,

It was a pleasure to have you on my team,
as my secretary and
as a friend.
J. Cantor

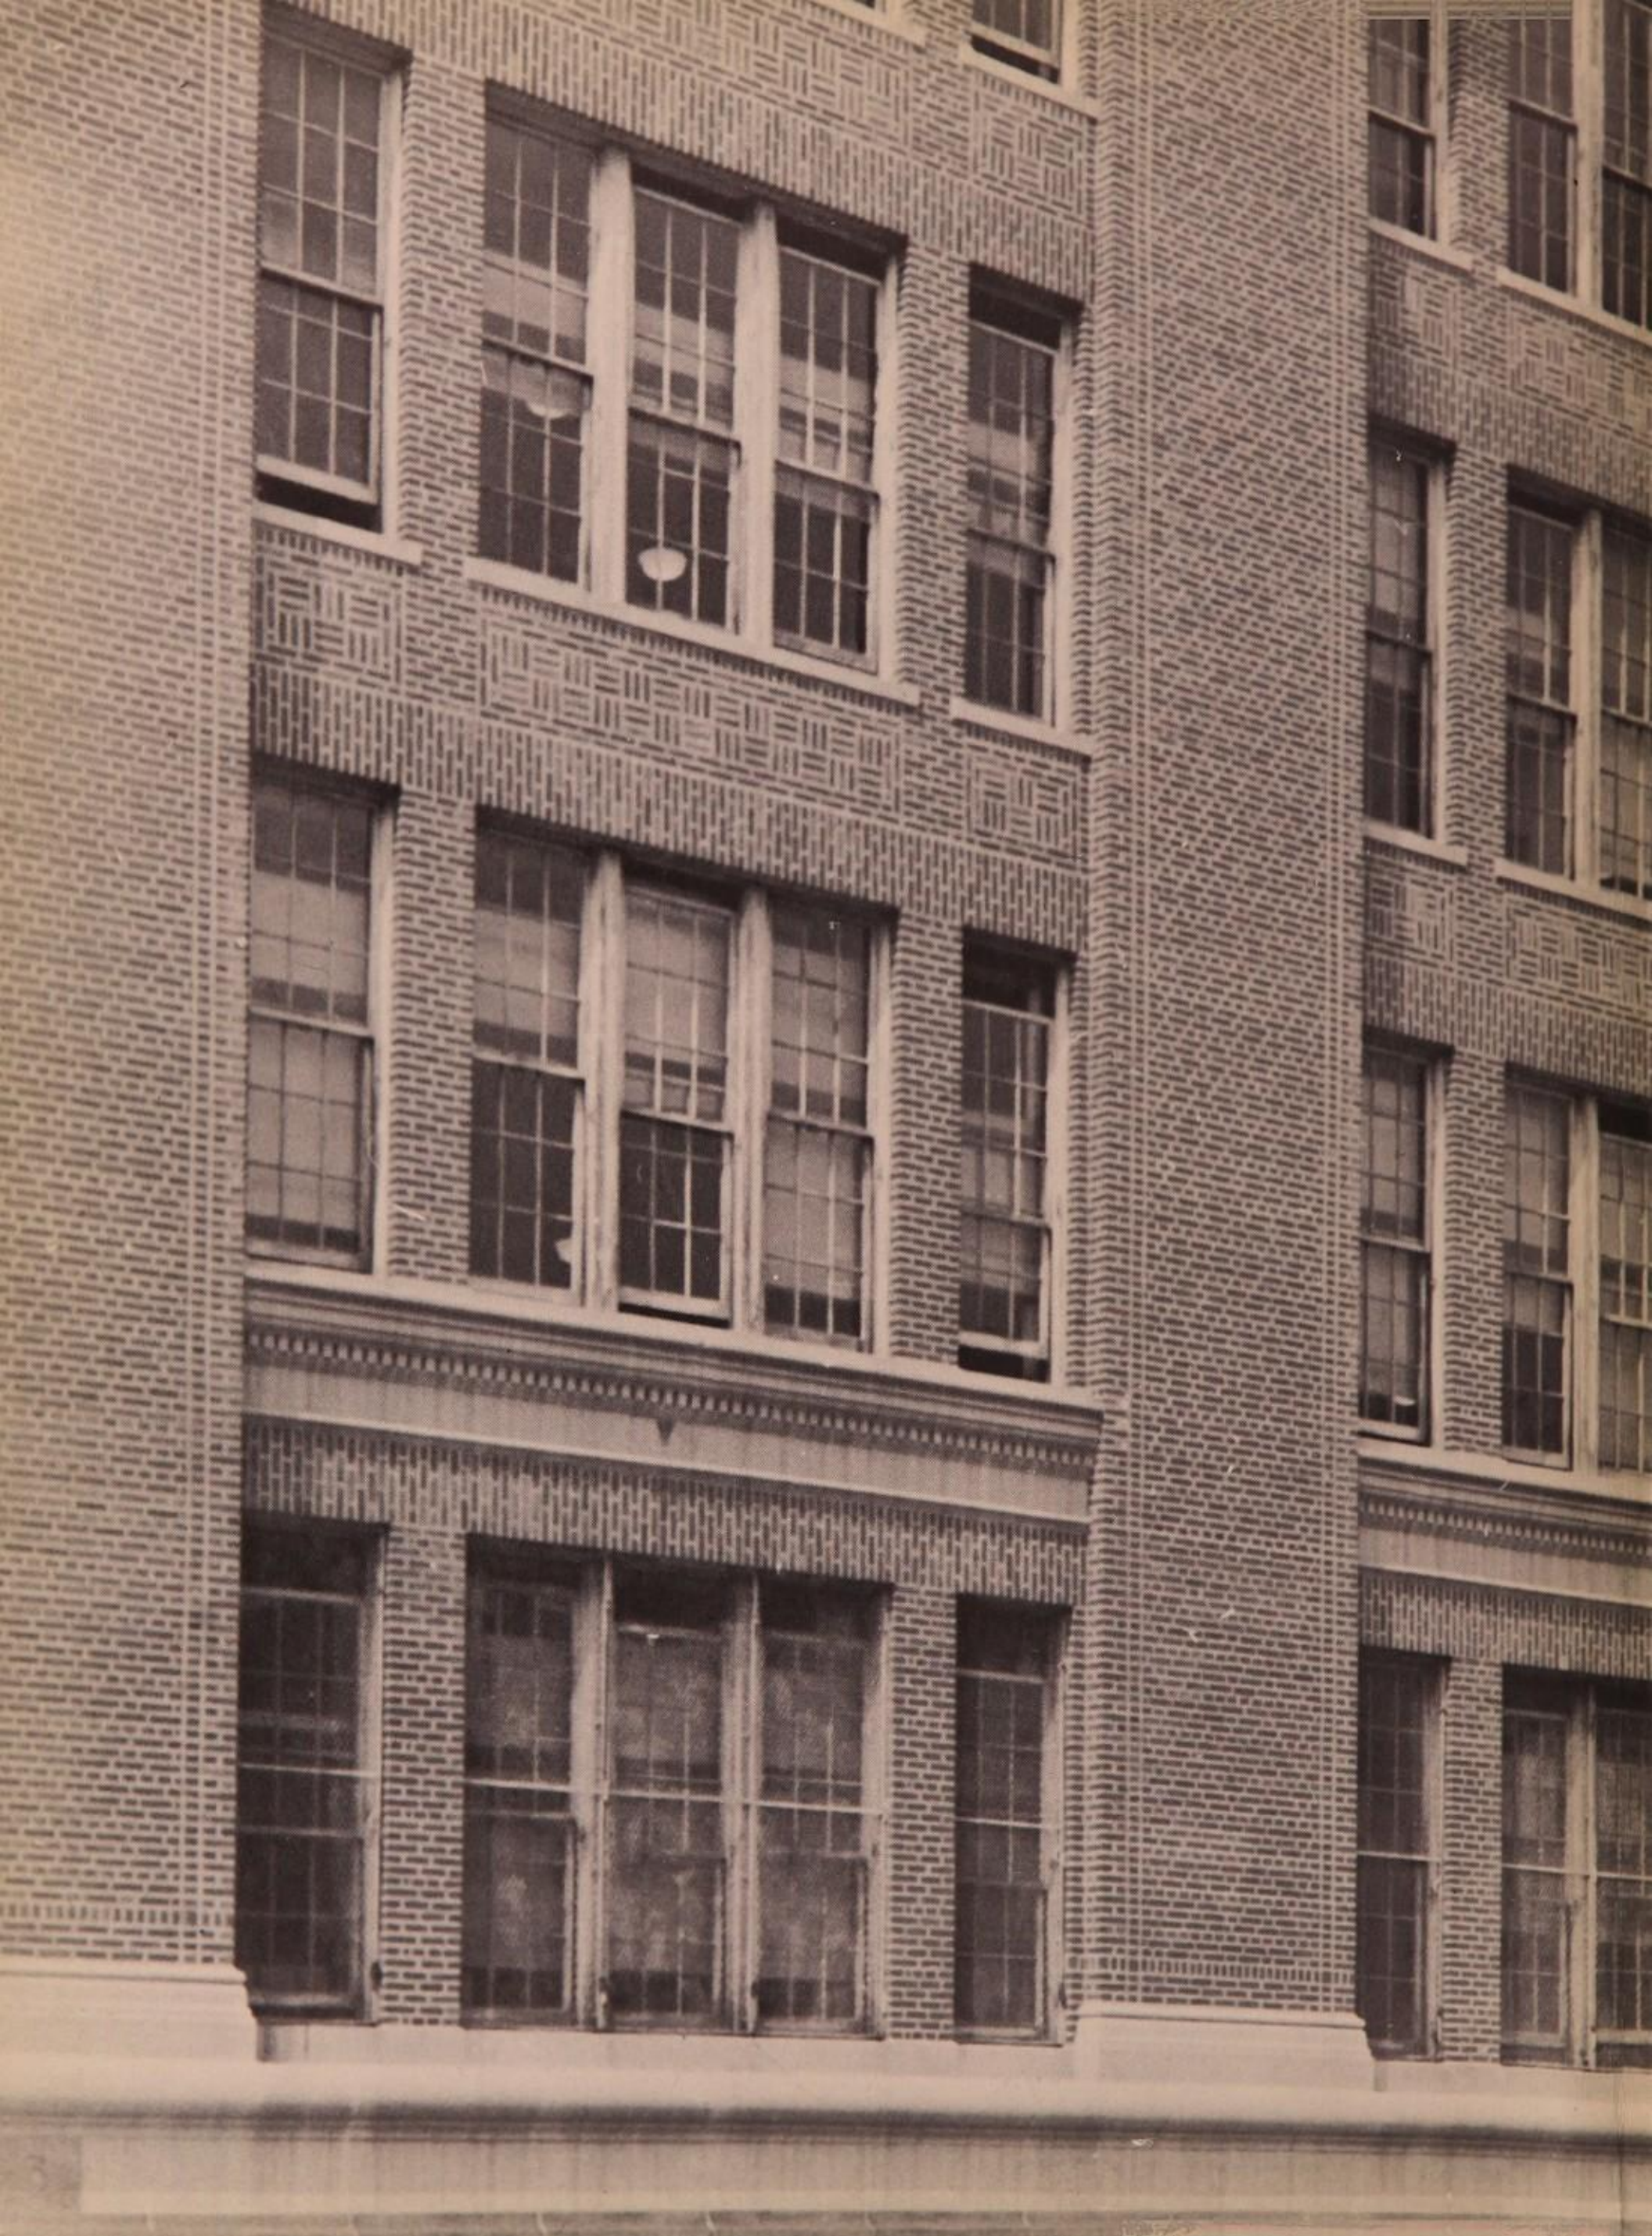

Edmund
There will never be another quite like you.
Take that as a compliment.
E. Ehrenkrantz

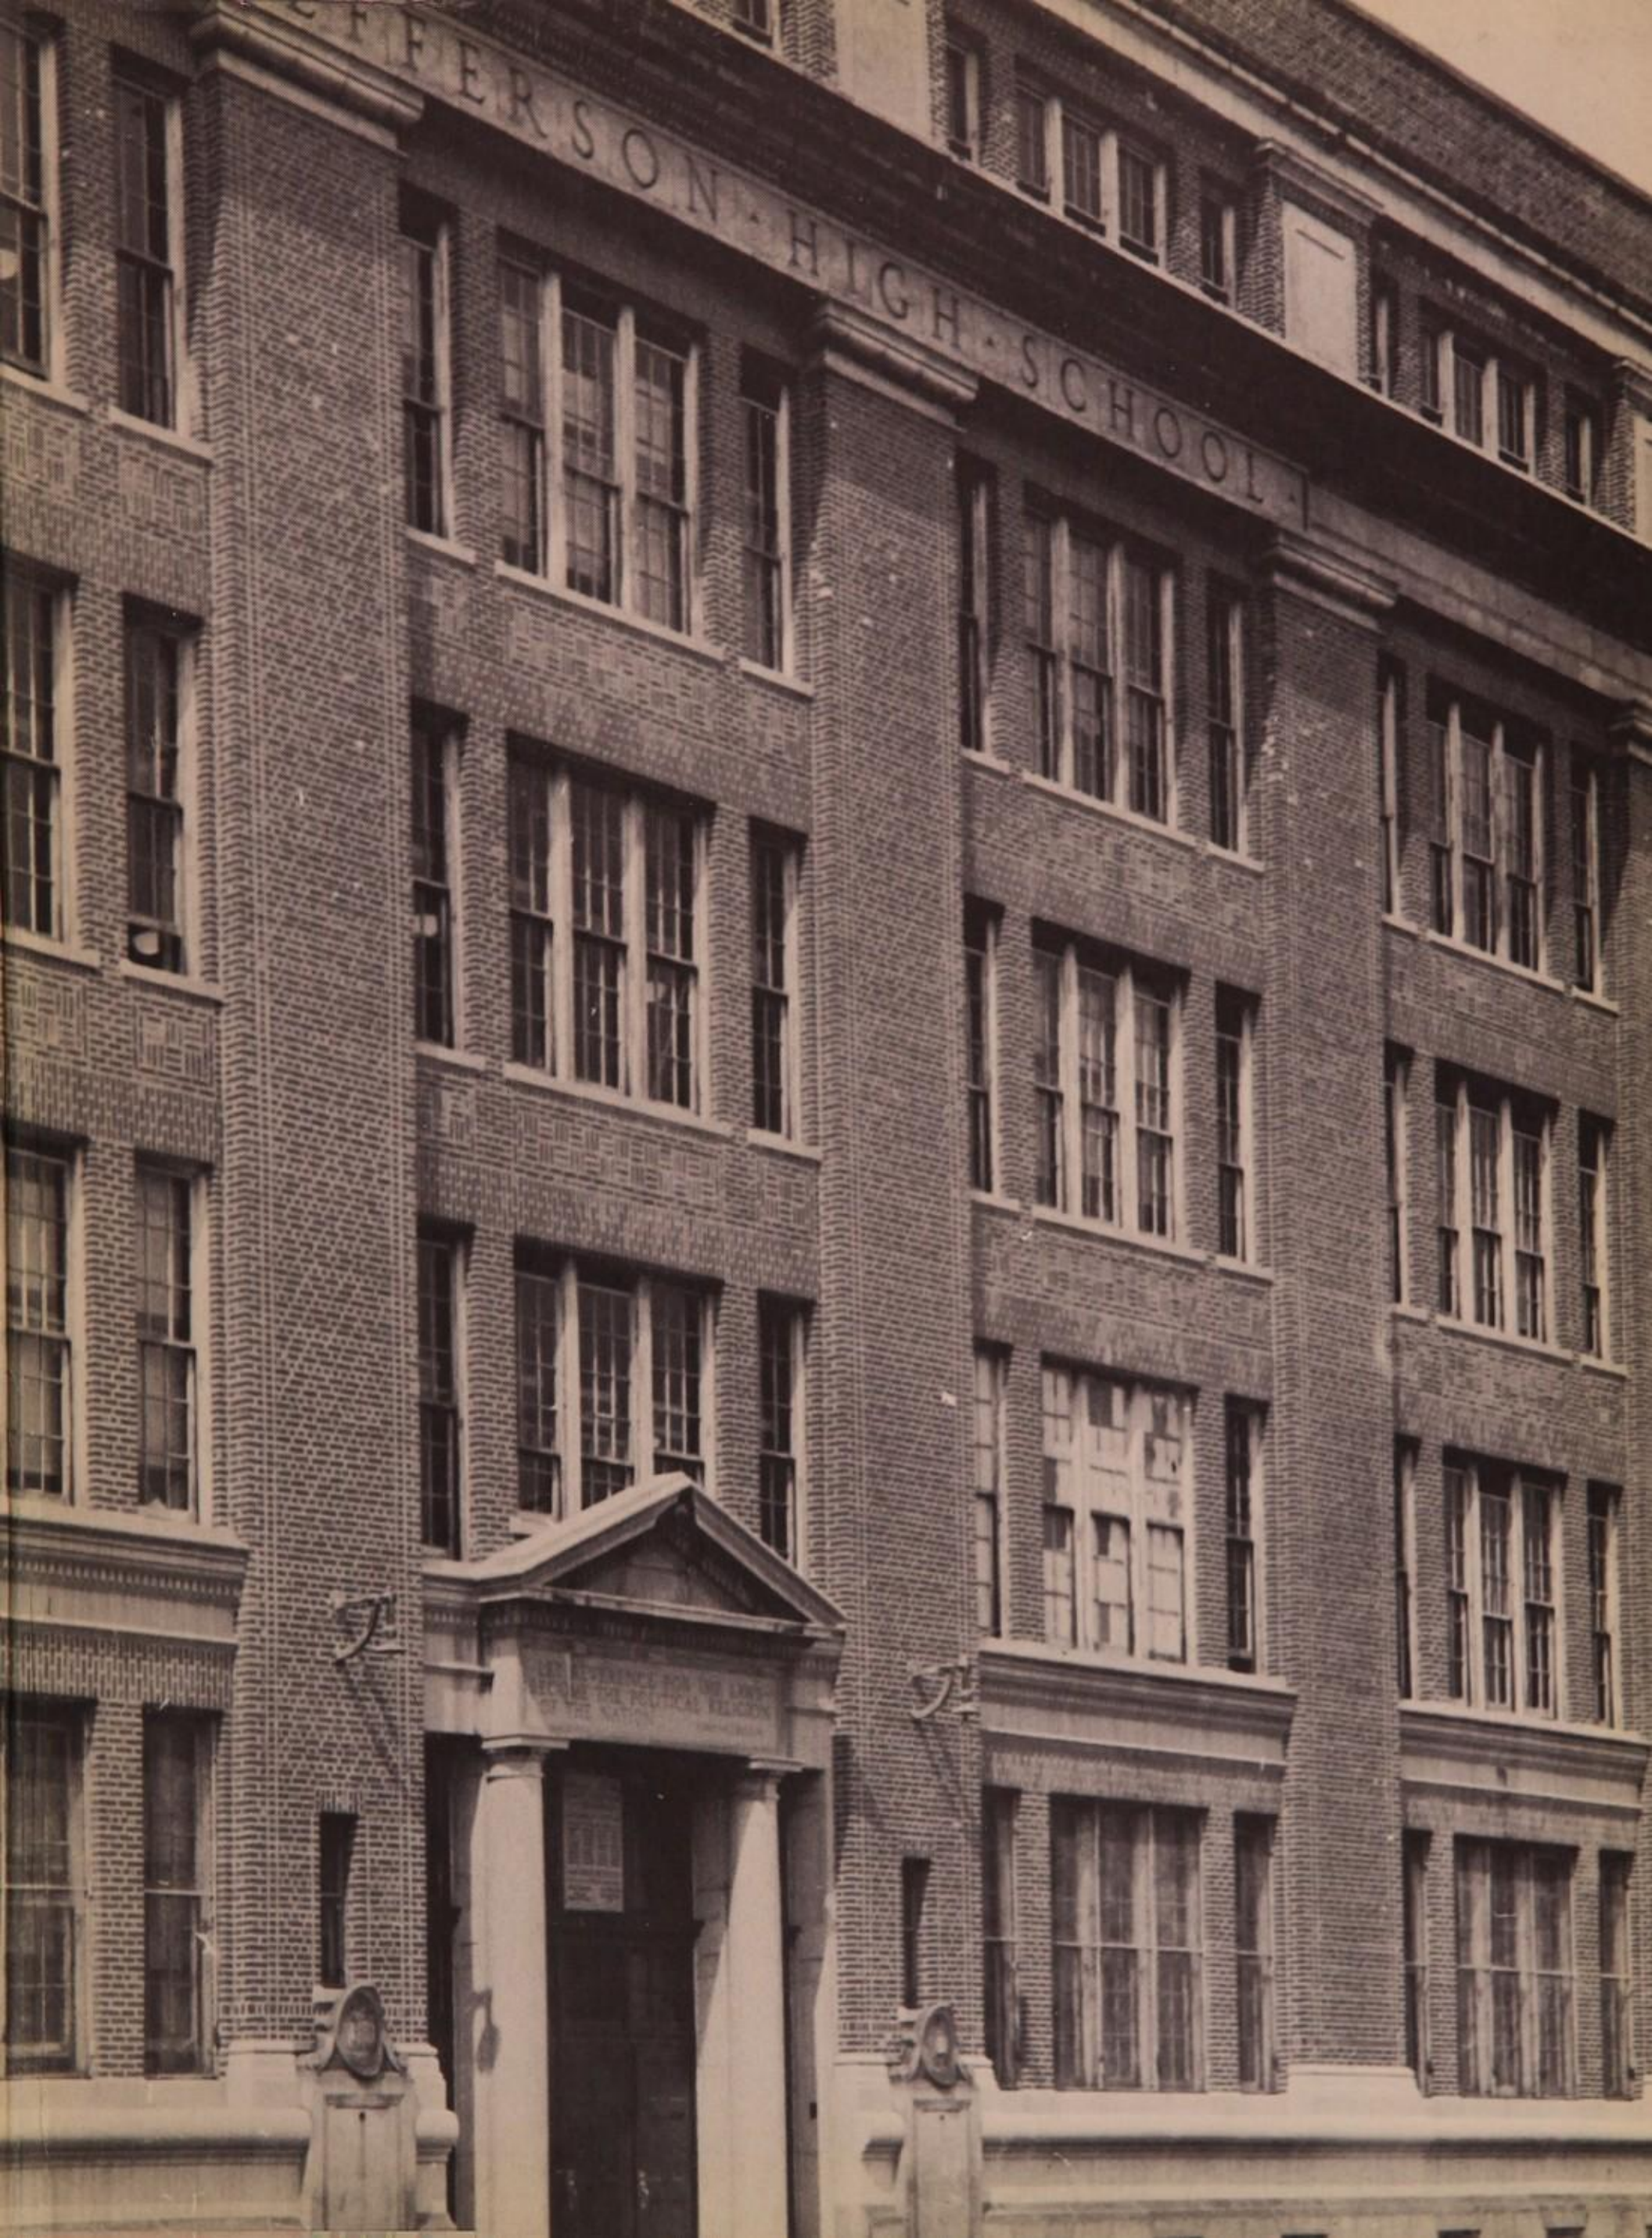

Edie:
Best wishes for your future success
Bea Howe

When winter's last snowflake
Descends from the shedding sky
When Autumn's leafy rainbow
Softens the pebbled ground
Youth and days past
Are but memories,
And the challenge of life
Lies ahead.

To Eddie,

I know there's alot I can write but I'll just say that I wish you everything good.
I know that someday you'll be famous & then I can say that I knew you (know you). All the luck & all that stuff.
Love Here.
